The Ohio River.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that proposals will be received by the subscribers, for improving the navigation of the Ohio River from the city of Pittsburgh to the line of the state of Pennsylvania, a distance of about 40 miles, from this time until the first of December next.

The contemplated improvement will consist in removing the large stones from the bed of the river, and in cutting an artificial channel through the shoals and ripples of a certain depth and width. The work necessary to effect this object would be of a very simple kind. The stones lying in the channel are not attached to the bed of the river—none of them are so large as to require to be blown, and the artificial channel would have to be opened through sand and gravel.

The subscribers reside in Pittsburgh, and would be happy to afford every information upon the subject to any enterprizing persons disposed to undertake the work.

Bank of the United States,

AUGUST 24, 1819.

THE frequent demands made upon the Bank for the payment of its notes on the production of half notes, alledging the loss of the corresponding halves; and the liability to impositions and fraudulent practices to which it is exposed by paying such claims, from which it is advised it cannot be duly protected by any evidence which may accompany such claims or any security which may be given to indemnify it, render it necessary to refuse the payment of such demands. They grow out of the voluntary act of the party who separates the parts of the notes, and he alone ought to bear the inconveniences and losses consequent upon the act. But as the practice, however improper, has been a common one, and the Bank is unwilling, without apprizing the public of its intention, to withhold even a questionable claim upon it, these demands will be meet with as usual heretofore, until the 1st of November next. But is hereby given, that the Bank of the United States will not after the first of November next, hold itself responsible upon any of its notes, which shall be voluntarily cut into parts, except on the production of all the parts.

Notice

DRY GOODS,

In Wood, between Third and Fourth streets.

Pttsburgh, May 4, 1819.

CASH,

I HAVE determined to sell my FARM, at the fork of Chartier's creek, in the county of Washington, fifteen miles from Pittsburgh, consisting of about 214 acres, so low for CASH as to make it a great object for any one having the command of money. Its advantages in point of soil, timber, water, sugar-camps, neighbourhood, proximity to mills, markets, the turnpike road from Washington to Pittsburgh, meeting houses and an excellent college, are well known—Added to these, some enterprising individuals of capital, are now boring for Salt within a quarter of a mile of it, at a lick which has produced salt from the surface, so that no doubt is entertained of their success. This will be useful, not only to the vicinity in general, but it will be of peculiar benefit to the tract hereby offered for sale, as it will afford a constant market for the stone coal with which the land abounds. I will give the purchaser a PATENT in my own name and a general warranty deed. The title is indisputable. I am willing to dispose of eight or ten other tracts, on moderate terms.

MACBETH.

"AH," say our grandmothers, "the times are sadly altered since I was young." And if, most venerable ladies the state of society "an hundred years ago," produced these Gadabouts, who like furies swept through society, frighting from their presence the social virtues; happy, thrice happy is it that the times are changed. Happy is it for us that the race of tale bearers and slanderers are utterly extinct: or if any of that viperine race have survived the duckings, whipping and heart burnings of 'an hundred years,' and by some they are tho't immortal, I would propose that they with the Seminole Indians, those savage Gadabouts of our borders, be placed under the command of Bonaparte that he may amuse himself in his solitude, and relieve society by successively extirpating these congenial souls.—But to conclude with my history of Mrs. Gadabout.

A 'Buzz' of August 11th, 1711, when the thermometer was at 105 degrees, announces the death of Mrs. Gadabout.—A writer, a cotemporary of Veritas Blent declares that her death, like that of other notorious persons who had made a great noise in the world, was attended with appropriate omens. That a thunder storm had soured all the milk in the village of Tittle-tattle, turned all the beer into vinegar, and broke up a meeting of the Tattle Club. That all the cats of the village with certain auxiliaries from the neighbouring towns, had collected in front of her house, and in a general battle had torn each other to pieces; while the mice, who like good house-wives stay at home and take care of their families, collected on the roof of an adjoining house, and enjoyed with unutterable delight this perfect retribution for past injuries, hailing the extirpation of these feline Gadabouts as a blissful omen of peace and tranquility to their village. That Mrs. Gadabout's favourite cat suspected by the village poet, to be the famous or more properly, infamous Grimalkin of Hecate that who was amusing herself and improving her genius in torturing an unfortunate mouse with alternate bites, caressings, scratchings and tossings in the air, at the very moment Mrs. Gadabout expired jumped three times up, knocking her head against the ceiling with horrible caterwaulings, exclaiming 'peace! peace! peace!' when she bounded through the window and was traced through the air, inveloped in a flaming sulphurous cloud as far as the village of ——, which was soon after destroyed by a general conflagration.

Now, although I have thought it my duty as a faithful and unprejudiced historian, to relate these ominous portents, more particularly for the gratification of that portion of my readers who are fond of the marvellous, such for instance as sensitive, romantic young ladies who delight in tales of love and murder. I shall not be in the slightest degree offended at the scepticism of any. On the contrary I freely confess that I always considered the 'raw head and bloody bones,' stories related by the historians of the awful portents that announced the exit of the Cæsars and Pompeys, as tales invented to gull the vulgar and give a fictitious importance to their heroes. Of a similar character have I considered these wonderful tales of singular precocity of genius or energies which are constantly trumpt up by sycophantic biographers, to impose upon the 'natives,' and flatter the vanity of individuals, who perhaps are elevated to power and distinction more through a lucky train of accidents, who in fact have been mounted to their eminence whether a throne or a stump, upon the shoulders of a multitude to serve their own turn, than inate talent or worth. Nay sometimes we see candidates selected for offices requiring as obsolete grey beards tell us virtue and talent, for the very reason of their deficiency in both: because virtue and talent, with their attributes, independence and fidelity are inconvenient tools for the selfish and corrupt. And as to the prognostics that attend the wicked, lacerating their minds with the tortures of remorse; we are told that a Nero concluded a life devoted to every infamy and ferocious cruelty that could blacken the hideousness of a demon, and died with an apparent tranquility; while a pious, benevolent Cowper terminated a life consecrated to every virtue with agonizing pangs of self reproach. Because the heart of him who has run a career of wickedness becomes utterly callous to every moral feeling, sinking his mind into the gloom of Atheism. We are told that the imperial captive of St. Helena, who waded to his throne through oceans of blood confines his sullen complaints and regrets to his partial confinement and diminished luxuriance of diet; with an apparent apathetic indifference to the scenes of blood and devastation that darkened his desolating career. And we certainly do see persons in all societies, who though acting on a much smaller scale of iniquity, perhaps for want of higher opportunities, who yet to the full extent of their genius and power "cry havoc and let slip the dogs of war" upon the peace and well being of society; who not only seem to pursue their course with an indifference to consequences, but are countenanced and fraternised by those, who if they were told that they were thus supporting and abetting vice, would be exceedingly offended. But they may rest assured that if these can reconcile such an association to their conscience, they have made great progress towards an assimilation of character.—For as Pope, though a poet, truly has said:

Vice is a monster of such hideous mein,
As to be hated, needs but to be seen,
But seen too oft.——

Had I not warned you reader, that in the pursuit of my lucubrations, I should in as sudden transitions as it pleased me wander from "grave to gay, from lively to severe," I should make a long apology for the grave and I hope not unuseful digression I have made, as it may appear to you from my story, I shall take it up where I left it four pages back.

Veritas Blunt, Esq. a name I delight to refer to as authority, who is the author of Mrs. Gadabouts biography and obituary, attributes her death to the following causes, which should be stuck up at every pump in every city, with the warnings of "Sudden Death;" viz:—excessive talking, constant exposure to the sleets and piercing blasts of winter or the scorching sun of the dog days, without the necessary precaution of cloak, bonnet or umbrella in her great eagerness to be the first benevolent soul, to disseminate the reports of her own neighbourhood, or collect a stock from abroad for the amusement of her snug cotere of friends, fatiguing journies into the adjacent counties to enlighten and astonish the simple natives, occasional compunctious visitings of conscience at church, when her attention could be drawn for a moment, charitable creature, from the dress and conduct of the congregation, to the denunciation from the pulpit of God's wrath against all backbiters and slanderers, the unceasing labour of her imagination to magnify mole-hills into mountains, an unremitting heart-burn from the overflowing of the bile which terminated in an incurable jaundice, sleepless perturbed nights consequent on receiving a report from an emissary too late at night to give it publicity, agonizing prurience of mind, disordering the nerves and brain producing occasional fits of insanity, a neglect through the hurry of business to take regular and wholesome nourishment, satisfied with the poisonous food on which toads and spiders can alone subsist on:—but above all, by the pangs of jealousy, the incessent mortification occasioned by the growing talent, activity and aspiring genius of her protege and rival Mrs. Rumour, who now eternally got the start of her in relating tales of wonder, subjecting her to the inexpressible, and but to those who knew Mrs. Gadabout, inconceivable mortification, of being told that the "shocking affair," that she had run herself out of breath to relate, had been anticipated by her dear friend Mrs. Rumour, who, perhaps, had that minute stepped into the kitchen to report it to the servants, to insure it a more general circulation. This was too much for poor Mrs. Gadabout!—nature, at least such a nature as poor dear Mrs. Gadabout's could not stand it. In the waiting of despair she declared that all her usefulness was frustrated—her ambition crushed, her "occupation gone!" Torn from her too by one, who, ought for her instruction and example, might have continued a hum-drum member of society, suffering the monotonous and unambitious to go on in a regular interchange of friendly and confiding intercourse of social feeling. The crisis of her sufferings terminated by the following event. A Friend by a sudden and unexpected misfortune, was reduced from affluence to penury, and in a fit of consequent derangement committed suicide. At the distance of thirty miles lived a natural friend who was too deeply interested in this melancholy catastrophe to be suffered to remain in ignorance, by the indefatigable Mrs. Gadabout. 'Tis true that the night, and a stormy one too, with a long and rugged road lay between her and the unsuspecting object of her deep concern. No horse had Mrs. Gadabout, and to borrow one was out of the question—nobody would lend her one who knew her; and poor woman every body did know her, and declared that when she did mount she incontinently rode to the d—l. Now if I understand her biographer Veritas Blunt, who I forgot to mention was the Village Pastor, it was not literally meant that poor Mrs. Gadabout was in the habit of paying morning visists to his satanic majesty, but that in her great zeal to perform, as her enemies, who were unfortunately the better sort of people said, his agencies upon earth, such as are expressed in the St. Helena law under the crimes of "gossiping from house to house, inventing and spreading false and scandalous reports, thereby sowing discord and debate among neighbours and often between men and their wives, to the great grief and trouble of all good and quiet people and to the utter extinguishing of all friendship, amity and good neighbourhood." So that in consequence of this notorious disposition the first sentence that an infant lisped in the village of Tittle-tattle, was "only mount Mrs. Gadabout on horse back and she'll ride to the" naughty man. So that no body would lend her a horse, for well they knew that if she was once seated with her head full of news and the reins in her hand off she rode helter-skelter, never stopping to feed or water her Pegassus, or for any other purpose than to sow the seeds of internal discord and external antipathies in the villages on her circuit. So that in a few days you might have traced her like a pestilence or conflagration through the country by the destruction she left in her train. On foot she generally returned, having starved and rode her unfortunate animal to death, in the generous concern she took in other person's affairs, whilst her own, disinterested soul, were in a sad condition enough.

The idea of a 'delicate female' trudging thirty miles on foot may appear incredible; but what will not enthusiasm attempt and execute whether the cause be good or bad: and it must be confessed that Mrs. Gadabout's enthusiasm had an unfortunate tendency to evil in almost every thing she did, either to herself or others. The enthusiastic Indian will traverse the most dreary deserts and morasses, climb the rugged mountain, plunge into the foaming torrent, encountering hardships and privations incredible, to seek in some distant region the object of his hatred and long sought vengeance—and Mrs. Gadabout stimulated by a zeal enthusiastic—commenced her journey on a dark and stormy night and arrived at her friend's house without food or sleep, shoes or bonnet, covered with mud and drenched with rain, hears—that Mrs. Rumour had been before her—and—the business was done!! You may have formed some idea, reader, of the agonized feelings of old Priam when he beheld imperial Troy in flames! of Niobe, "all tears," when she beheld her beloved offspring writhing in the agonies of death pierced by the arrows of Apollo!—but, I sincerely hope, that you cannot enter into the soul consuming agonies of Mrs. Gadabout's feelings when she heard that Mrs. Rumour had blasted the hopes of an enterprise by which she had fondly hoped to bind her temples with a wreath of endless fame. Not a tear did she shed, not a sigh did she breath—every function of life seemed instantly stopped—she fell upon the floor and was carried home upon a litter, in a state of insensibility in which she remained until she expired.—Veritas Blunt attributes her death to a complication of diseases, the predominent of which were a gangrene of the mind and of the heart, the insipient state of which he had observed in her youth.

CATTLE SHOW AT BRIGHTON.

The Cattle Show and Exhibition of Domestic manufactures, under the direction of the Massachusetts Agricultural Society, took place yesterday, according to appointment. A great number of gentlemen from town, as well as from almost all parts of the state, and a considerable number of ladies, were present. Among the gentlemen present, were the Governor and Lieut. Governor, and many other persons of distinction. At ten o'clock, the Members of the Agricultural Society, with the gentlemen invited by the Trustees, went in procession from the Hall of the Society to the Meeting-House, where prayers were offered by the Rev. Dr. Foster, and an address was delivered by the Hon. Mr. Quincy. In the address, Mr. Quincy, after doing full justice to the character, the industry, good sense, and virtues of our yeomanry, pointed out with some severity of satire, but in style of admirable pleasantry, some of the prevailing faults of our farmers in the management of their affairs. The address was listened to with great attention and satisfaction by the crowded audience, and the truths uttered and hints given, cannot fail of producing a useful effect. We hope that the address will be published by the Society.

The procession then proceeded to the field where the pens for the exhibition of the animals was located, and afterwards to the Hall to view the specimens of Manufactures and inventions. The pens, eighty in number, were filled in general with very fine animals. The number of fat oxen, however, was small; one ox only of a very large size was exhibited. This belonged to Mr. Luke Fiske, and weighed 2798 pounds. There was a large number of fine bulls, three or four of which were imported. The handsomest and most gratifying display was in the young stock. There was a large number of young bulls and heifers, of the very finest descriptions, from different parts of the State, which proves that great attention has been paid, within a few years, to the improvement of the breeds of cattle.—There were also many fine specimens of swine, principally young, and a considerable number of sheep.

In the Hall was a much more extensive as well as more choice exhibition of manufactures, than has been made on any former occasion. The specimens of cloths were very numerous and excellent, and were the produce of a great number of manufactories. They were said also to be offered at very low prices, compared with the price of similar cloths of foreign fabric. There were some splendid specimens of cut glass ware—of thread lace—artifical flowers—and of many other branches of manufacture which we cannot here enumerate. There was also a variety of excellent cheese, and some tubs and pots of butter. Among the inventions were a machine of superior construction for weaving cloth, and one for shelling corn.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.

The Ploughing match, which took place yesterday at Brighton, was viewed with interest by a great number of spectators, assembled from various parts of the state. Seven ploughs were entered for the premiums—three with teams with four oxen each, and drivers; three with one yoke of oxen each, one only with a driver; and one with two horses, without a driver. The contest against time, as well as good ploughing, was maintained by six of the teams; the seventh appeared desirous of handsome execution only. The space allotted to each, being one quarter of an acre actual survey, was accomplished by one of the double teams in thirty-eight minutes. The whole was performed in a workmanlike manner.

By Recent Intelligence from Constantinople, it appears that the plague continued its ravages in that city. The Captain Pacha, it is said, has been disgraced and banished to Smyrna for his remissness in quelling the late disturbances, and is succeeded in office by Abdallah Pacha. More than 20 of the leaders of disturbances have been put to death. Prince Moruzy has returned from his exile at Mytelene.

Sir Thomas M. Hardy has not yet sailed from England. At the last date he had a long conferrence with ministers, on his intended expedition to the South Seas with four ships, who are to serve as a squadron of observation, to act in the event of emergency.

From the London Star, Sept. 5.

'Policies were this morning opened on the Royal Exchange to receive one hundred pounds on paying Spain and the U States, on or before this day two months.'

The above is policying with a vengeance, and we think offers as fair a chance to burn the fingers of speculators as we have ever met with. A declaration of war coming from Spain is wholly out of the question. The Congress of the United States do not assemble until sometime in the present month and as they alone possess the power of declaring War, the sixty days limited above must expire before they meet. *N. To the astonishment of the citizens of this place, the following gentlemen were voted out of the direction, by the Directors of the mother Bank.

E. DENNY,
A. BEELEN,
O. ORMSBY,
R. PATTERSON,
GEO. WALLACE,
W. ROBINSON, Jr.
GEO. BOGGS.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette,

GENTLEMEN—Permit me, through the medium of your paper, to express to the citizens of Pittsburgh, my sincere thanks for their benevolent and spirited exertions in rescuing my property from the fire on Wednesday the 20th inst.

JOHN HERRON.

October 26.

(From the appearance of the Mill immediately after the conflagration, it was thought that one thousand dollars would have been sufficient to repair the damages sustained, but we have been informed by Mr. Herron, that from a pretty correct estimate made by him, his loss is about 4000 dollars.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman of Birmingham in England, who is one of the overseers or guardians of the poor in that populace town, to his friend who has recently settled in this neighbourhood.

"I will now give you a statement from the weekly printed list of the poor town of Birmingham, which is sent to each guardian.—In the workhouse this day, 788—in the asylum belonging to the said workhouse, 389—the number of out poor who receive weekly relief, 3841, so that you see not less than 4262 are receiving pay from our workhouse, and let it be remembered, that out of this number, many have families who live out of the pay allowed made by the house. Strong able bodied men are daily applying for food or relief. Great numbers of the American merchants here have called their creditors together, and others entirely dispersed their clerks. The want of cash is the universal cry of rich and poor. We have been obliged to make double levies since I came into office. The prospect before us is truly appaling. Our government know not what measures to adopt to meet the difficulties of the times—the universal clamours and discontents of the people. Surely this is a time when the thoughts and reasoning faculties of all ranks of men should be called into action. Machinery has made so much progress in all our manufactures throughout the kingdom that their persons are a curse to the poor, and the use of them tend only to enrich those that own, and their great perfection and general use has thrown thousands and tens of thousands out of employment, so that the labour of human hands is no more required.

And what a pitiful proposition is that our government to grant 50,000*l* to assist poor individuals who are willing to transport themselves and families to Africa. It is calculated that it costs our government 70*l* to send each convict to Botany Bay, it will cost at least 50*l* each to send the poor to the Cape; what can 50,000*l* do for such a purpose? A miserable subterfuge!—Oh base dereliction! to the patient Birmingham artist & mechanic—justas one million has been granted to erect new churches!!"

The London Times of the 7th of September, mentions, that letters from Madrid contain the Royal decree by which Count O'Donnell is appointed Captain General of Andalusia, President of the Audience of Seville, and Political and Military Governor of Cadiz. These appointments are declared to be recompences for his devotion to the King's person; and it is said, that his delicacy had not permitted him to represent to his Majesty "how dangerous it would be, to embark, while the serious wound he received in the glorious action of Abisbal remained open."

A letter from Madrid, after announcing that the Spanish Government had already the period for the ratification of the Florida Treaty to expire, adds—"There is as yet, however, no certainty of rupture with the United States.—The Duke de C; who is allied to the royal family by his marriage with the niece of the Cardinal de Bourbon has received orders to sail without loss of time for the United States, on a mission from the Court of Madrid. It is thought that through the channel of so important a personage, the negociations with the American Government may be renewed." The same letter says—"It is reported at Madrid, that Don Onis will soon occupy the place of M. Salmon, who is considered very unfit for the department of Foreign Affairs."

By the statements in our London papers, it would seem that a spirit of disconcert and insurrection is increasing in Spain. A letter dated at Madrid on the 22d of August, says—"There is still agitation especially in the Kingdoms of Valencia. The Roads of Estramadura are insecure; and the Portuguese, under pretence of covering their frontiers against the Guerillas, have formed a cordona from Almuda to Elaus. There was lately posted upon the gates of the Inquisition, a bill containing in large letters, the following words:—"This house to let from the 1st January, 1820."

St. Louis, Sept. 29.

Intelligence from the expedition to the upper Missouri.—Mr Peter Kerr left Manuel's Fort, seven miles below the Council Bluffs, on the 10th inst. and arrived at St. Louis on the 28d.

On the 11th he met the Western Engineer, Major Long and party, twelve miles below the mouth of the river Platte, ascending. He confirms the account of a robbery committed on some of the gentlemen attached to this boat by a band of Panis Indians.

On the 12th he met Col. Atkinson one hundred and seventy-five miles below the Council Bluffs. The rifle regiment and the sixth infantry were in company, under the command of Col. Atkinson, ascending in a number of keel boats, in good health and spirits, and expected to be at the Council Bluffs in twelve days, that is to say, on the 24th inst. None of Col. Johnson's steam boats were in company.

On the 14th Mr. Kerr passed Martin Cantonment, (Cow Island:) saw there the steam boat Expedition, empty, and preparing to fall back, her cargo having been transferred to keels. Martin Cantonment was abandoned, except by a subaltern and thirty men, who waited for the arrival of an empty keel boat to take the remnant of the lading of the steam boat Expedition.

On the 16th passed the steam boat Johnston, twenty-five miles above fort Osage, lying too, something out of order.

On the 17th, 18th, 19th, met ten or a dozen keel boats above Boons-lick, ascending with provisions for the troops.

On the 20th, passed the steam boat Jefferson, empty, and lying upon the rocks, high and dry, four miles below the mouth of the Great Osage.

It is now certain that the troops have left the steam boats and gone on in keels, and that they will arrive (have arrived in all probability) at the Council Bluffs in time to shelter themselves before the commencement of winter, and to accomplish all the views of the government for the present summer.

Mr. Forsyth, U. S. agent on the Upper Mississippi arrived in town a few days ago from the Falls of St. Anthony

We understand from him that he left Prairie du Chien in company with Col. Leavenworth and a detachmen of the 5th infantry early in August, and arrived at the mouth of the St. Peters, just under the Falls, on the 24th of the same month. Col. Leavenworth established himself on the spot indicated by General (then lieut.) Pike, and immediately commenced the necessary works for the shelter and protection of the troops.

On the way up the detachment halted at the different Sioux villages, by all of whom they were well treated.

Many Indians from the borders of the river St. Pierre came down to the Falls while Mr. Forsyth remained there, all of whom conducted themselves peaceably, and expressed satisfaction at the arrival of the troops and the establishment of the military post.

The U. S. vs. the State Officers

Messrs. John L. Harper and Thomas Orr, two of the officers who executed the warrant of the Auditor, for the collection of the tax imposed by the Legislature on the Offices of Discount and Deposite of the Bank of the United States located in this state, were, on Monday last, taken into custody, by the deputy marshal, on a capias, for a trespass vi et armis, in taking said tax out of the banking house established here. Bail was required of them to the amount of $250 $50 each; but they, not willing to involve their friends in any trouble, refused giving any. They were then taken to the prison in this place, where they are now in close confinement. We are informed that a writ has also been issued against Ralph Osborn, auditor of the state, which was probably executed yesterday.

Chillicothe Sup. Oct. 20.

The overplus of 20,355 dols. of which notice has been taken in some of the papers, and which appears not to have been considered in requiring the amount of bail, was returned to the Branch and by them received, on the return of the officers from Columbus.—ib.

From the Nat. Advocate, Oct. 18.

"Orders were received in Philadelphia on Saturday, to ship twenty thousand stand of arms, with a corresponding quantity of ordnance and ammunition, to Savannah, for which the commanding officer on that station has made the necessary preparations. It was announced a few days ago in the Democratic Press, that Captain Morris was appointed to succeed Commodore Perry in the command of the squadron on the West India station. This is correct, but in addition to the above intelligence, orders have been issued to suspend the sailing of the squadron as its destination may be changed."

If this be correct, the object can scarcely be considered doubtful. We take it for granted that it must be a measure of preparation, against the meeting of Congress, founded upon the non-ratification of the treaty by Spain, and taken upon full reliance on the expectation that a law will be passed, upon the commencement of the session, authorising the provisional occupation of the Floridas. As the session is near, it is possible that the President considered it unnecessary to convene Congress by proclamation.

N. Y. Adv.

Commodore Rodgers' visit to the Eastward is understood to have objects of greater importance than the examination of candidates for promotion in the navy. We understand that this experienced and scientific officer left Washington for the purpose of making a complete inspection into the state of our naval preparations in the Atlantic ports North and East of the Metropolis; which cannot fail to have a beneficial effect upon those branches of the navy when his tour will extend to the Lakes.—National Jrs.

The merchants of Amsterdam have raised five millions of Guilders for the purpose of opening a Canal from the Helder to that city, a distance of fifty miles by which the largest ships will be enabled to proceed and discharge their cargoes at the city, and thereby avoid the great expense and pillage attending the present mode of transporting by lighters—the work commenced in May and upwards 2000 men have been constantly employed in its prosecution.

Philad. Gaz.

Mr. Campbell, the American Minister, and family, are expected this fall, from St Petersburg.—ib.

Halifax papers to the 29th ult. have been received at Boston, which contains a proclamation of the lieut. governor of Prince Island, relating to the late Convention between Great Britain and America, in which it is declared, "That if any vessels or subjects of the United States, be found fishing or preparing to fish within three marine miles of any part of the coast of the island, or shall attempt to use any part of the coasts of the colony for drying or curing fish, or for other purposes, connected with the fishery, that the most prompt measures will be taken for enforcing a due adherence, on their part, to the stipulations contained in the said convention.

COMMODORE MORRIS,

Says the Portsmouth Oracle of Saturday, left this town yesterday for Norfolk: he is to go out in the Constellation, to finish the mission entrusted to the late Commodore Perry in the Oronoco.—We shall be happy if the present voyage restores the health of the gallant Commodore.

GRAND MENAN.

The New Brunswick Gazettes announce that Col. Arnold and two other British engineers, have proceeded to the Island of Grand Menan, for the purpose of surveying its defensive points, and designating scites for fortifications. This Island almost touches the American boundary, and effectually commands the Bay of Fundy, and must of course be of immense importance in any future wars between the United States and Great Britain.—*Bost. BUFFALO, N. Y. Oct. 5.

A truly distressing time the parties appear to have had, who have been employed, for the last two months, in the survey of the islands of Lake Erie. Of thirty-three persons, consisting of commissioners, secretaries, surveyors, chain bearers, and boat and axe-men, every individual has suffered a serious time of illness, and that too in a place where no medical aid could be procured. We are happy to learn, however, that the survey of the islands to the mouth of Detroit river has been completed.

From the Albany D. Advertiser, Oct. 12.

It cannot but give pleasure and satisfaction to every citizen of the United States, to be informed of the very particular and marked attention, which of late years, has been paid to many of our countrymen who have visited different parts of Europe, in the character of public agents—on business—for pleasure, or for improvement in the arts—scarcely is there a single arrival from a port in Europe, without some honourable mention of some one or or more of our countrymen—some particular attention paid to them, and some complimentary notice of our country or its government—and those not alone from individuals, societies, or corporations, but from their kings and emperors, their parliaments and senates. We have two instances now before us. The one is a very handsome and complimentry eulogium on our country, contained in a late speech of the hon. Sir Robert Wilson, in the British house of commons. It is in the following words:

'For America (sir Robert said) he felt a sincere affection; he cherished her as the impregnable fortress of human freedom, with her gates ever open to afford refuge and a resting place to the persecuted and oppressed.'

The other is a mark of respect and esteem for a young gentleman, almost one of our fellow townsmen, Dr. Jeremiah Van Rensselaer, of Greenbush, whose name, and letters to his correspondents we have often had the plesure of noticing in our paper.

This young gentleman, we have now to mention, has recently received from a society of literary gentleman in England a very polite and flattering invitation to deliver a course of lectures on mineralogy and geology in the city of London; but which he has been necessitated to decline, intending shortly to return to his native country. He is now in France.

BEDFORD (Pa.) Oct. 7.

Yesterday morning, Mr. Patrick M'Murphy, Innkeeper, of this borough put a period to his existence by shooting himself through the body with a pistol. He had been subject to fits of insanity for some time past, occasioned, it is supposed, by pecuniary embarrassment.—The deceased was ever esteemed as an affectionate husband, an indulgent father, and a kind hearted and obliging neighbor. He was in the 29th year of his age, and has left a wife and six children to lament his untimely death.

We have seen letters from Madrid which state, that our minister, Mr. Forsythe, in his communications with that court on the subject of the Florida Treaad assumed an attitude of the most vigorous character.—Its it probable that his despatches will not be published until the meeting of Congres. In the meantime, the president has full power to make every arrangement to meet any future contingency, which may be expected to grow out of the rejection of the Treaty, by the Spanish government.

Mr. EDITOR—Having visited the Vale of Glencoe, the moss covered cairns erected to the memory of heroes struck me with reverential awe, and brought to my mind a faint picture of that night of blood which will never be blotted from the memory of Highlanders. It will be gratifying should the annexed verses be allowed to fill up any corner in the Caledonian. It is now 228 years this day since this barbarious transaction took place.

MASSACRE OF GLENCOE.

The sun had set with golden bow,
In beams far o'er Benlomon's brow,
And left Lochleven's dashing prow,
To seek her darken'd way.
M'Donald's clan to pibroch's sound,
The turf blaz'd hearth had gather'd round;
Tradition's tale a welcome found,
Where Keppock gain'd the day.

Mhaclan's red cross o'er the vale,
With lightnings flight when storms assail,
Could gather sons of tartan'd mail,
To turn aside a word:
But treach'ry, with impetuous roll,
On valor's son's in cold blood stole,
And quick the unsuspecting soul,
To pain or joy was hurl'd.

Yon sinking sun's last parting gleam,
Seem'd glooming o'er the intended scene,
And languid rose the silvery beam,
Of Luna pale and wan.
Glenlyon's swarth! a fouler stain
Was never brought on Campbell's name,
Than deeds with which thy fir'd brain,
Dealt vengeance on the clan.

"Bitheadh Dialeibh, clan of Glencoe,"
In kindness spoke the insidious foe;
Yet plunging daggers with a blow,
Shall blot you from the morn!
Will God protect the Highland brave?
Can nought repel 'that coming wave?
Each native cot becomes a grave
To victims of the storm.

High o'er the vale with sullen glow,
The sun now beam'd on crimson'd snow,
No ear could hear the wonted flow
Of Coe's wild dashing stream.
Each death clos'd eye in lasting sleep,
In life no more shall wake to weep,
Or stalk the wild deer through each steep,
Nor sip life's passing dream.

The storm had still'd, the act was done;
That night of blood by fiends was won,
And vengeance' course which then had run,
Wrought low Breadalbane's fame.
That night shall live 'midst all its gloom!
Glenorchay thou pronounc'd their doom!
A moss clad cairn marks each tomb,
To stigmatize thy name.

From the Savannah Patriot.

"A soldier, an' please your reverence, said I, prays as often (of his own accord) as a parson: and when he is fighting for his king, and for his own life, and for his honor too, he has the most reason to pray to God of any one in the world."

STERNE.

Mr. Editor—Who in reading the lives of Turenne and Gustaphus Adolphus, has not been as much touched by their devoted piety, as by their military talents?—Who has not dwelt with pleasure on the warm devotion of col. Gardiner, and who has not been charmed with the union of religion and patriotism in our own M'Donough? Instances of such an union are to be found in every country. The following anecdote of general Abercrombie, taken from the Literary Panorama, No. 44, is not less worthy of notice.

During the residence of sir Ralph at the ancient seat of his family in Clackmannahshire, his humility and christian deportment pointed him out as a proper person to fill the office of an elder in his parish church. Being ordained according to the rites of the church of Scotland, when the solemn services were ended, he addressed the minister to the following purpose: "Sir, I have often been entrusted by my sovereign with honorable and important commands in my profession as a soldier, and his majesty has been pleased to reward my services with distinguished marks of royal approbation; but to be the humble instrument of putting the tokens of my Saviour's dying love into the hands of one of the meanest of his followers, I conceive to be the highest honor that I can receive on this side of heaven."

WESTERN HOTEL,

No. 228 MARKET STREET,

Sign of General Washington.

THE subscriber begs leave to inform his friends and the public, that he has taken that well known establishment in Market street, next door to the Pittsburgh Mail Stage Office, and lately occupied by Mr. George Yohe. To those who have been accustomed to resort to this house, it is unnecessary to point out its superior advantages. For the information of others we deem it necessary to state that its situation is central, high, healthy and convenient to business; an extensive range of back buildings, consisting of lodging rooms, afford a fine view of the city to the eastward, and admit a free and uninterrupted circulation of air—and what will give them a decided preference in the opinion of many, is the attachment thereto of balconies, so constructed as not only to afford pleasant promenades, but easy means of escape in the event of any necessity from any sudden alarm of fire. The great Western Stages start every morning from the door, and on the premises is one of the best Livery Stables in the city, conducted by Mr. John Tomlinson, where travellers' horses will be faithfully attended to. With these advantages, and some other improvements now making added to his own unremitted exertions to please, the subscriber confidently hopes for, and very respectfully solicits a share of public patronage.

OR PORTABLE KITCHENS.

MANUFACTURED and sold by HENRY MILLER & Co in 2d street, two doors from the corner of Wood streets, Pittsburgh.

This Stove with fixtures complete, comprises every necessary article of apparatus for an extensive cooking establishment.

The different sizes are calculated to do the cooking for small or large families, public houses and Steam-boats, and are so extremely simple in their construction as to be managed with ease by a child, twelve or fourteen years of age.

The circumstance of these Stoves having got into very general use at the eastward, within 2 or 3 years past, particularly in the cities of New-York and Baltimore, with the rapid sale and general approbation they have met with since their first introduction last winter, west of the mountains, are sufficient testimonials of their utility and advantage.

JACOB REED.

Town of
PALERMO.

THE scite of this Town is on the bank of the Ohio river in Union county, state of Kentucky, immediately opposite the mouth of the Saline river, in the state of Illinois.

The Sale of Lots

will take place on the 20th day of October next, under the directions of the Commissioners appointed by the Court of Union county, and will continue from day to day, till Three Hundred are disposed of

will be one fourth down, one fourth in nine, one fourth in eighteen, and one fourth in twenty four months, with a deed of trust to secure the payment.

There is no situation on the Ohio between its source and mouth (with the exception of Louisville) which combines more or greater advantages than

PALERMO

—Union is allowed to be the most fertile county south of Green river, and the whole section of country between the Green and Cumberland rivers is well known to be peculiarly adapted to the culture of Tobacco than any other part of Kentucky. The population is increasing most rapidly, and by many of the most respectable and genteel families from Virginia, North Carolina and she old settled parts of Kentucky. This town is about 1200 miles above New-Orleans and lies in the direct course to Illinois, Missouri, Arkansaw, Kaskaskia and Red River countries, and shortens the distance at least thirty miles instead of going by Shawanee-town. In its immediate neighbourhood, are very large bodies of the richest land in the state—it is about 6 miles by water from the United States' Salt Works, and must become the deposit for the salt wanted in the adjacent counties of Kentucky, and a considerable portion of Tennesee.

PALERMO

is destined to become one of the greatest places on the whole river for steam works, having an inexhaustible coal mine within half a mile of the river, and the coal not a foot below the surface, and also within three or four miles of the town one of the richest ore banks in the western country.

PALERMO

possesses a great advantage over every other situation on the river above it, that steam-boats and others can at almost all seasons of the year come from and return to New-Orleans, there being never less than 12 feet water at its banks; the want of which advantage was severely felt from Pittsburgh as low as Shawaneetown last fall, at the former of which places an immense amount of goods was detained on account of the lowness of the water from September to December. An importing house at this place, getting goods from Baltimore, New-York or from Europe direct by way of New-Orleans, and having one or two branch steam-boats, drawing not more than from two to two and an half feet water, would make incalculable profits by supplying the country as high as Louisville and up the different tributary streams of the Ohio with merchandize. This town is laid off on a beautiful plain or level extending from the river to the foot of the Curlew Hills, a distance of nearly a mile, and commands a fine view of the Ohio and Saline rivers.

Encouragement to Mechanics to settle in

PALERMO;

Fifty Lots

Will be given gratis in fee simple, (including those given to the acting Commissioners) also the use of pit coal for five years, for fuel, the use of an acre lot for five years for a garden, timber for the interior of a two story house building stone from the Curlew hills, on condition that the grantee build and completely finish in two years, a two story house aforesaid of brick or stone; the same privileges will be extented to purchasers at the first sale, but to no others. The situation is peculiarly well calculated for an industrious and prudent mechanic to realize a fortune in a short time; provisions are remarkably low, wages uncommonly high, and the savings of a few months can at any time be invested in the public lands by crossing over to Illinois, Indiana or Missouri, which will increase annually for years to come from 25 to 30 per cent.

PALERMO

is very healthy, well watered by a number of the purest springs, and at a distance of about eighteen miles are some of the most efficacious White Sulphur and Salt Sulphur Springs in the Western country, which are much resorted to. At the same time will be leased for a term of years, from

15 to 20 FARMS

Of 75 ACRES each, of as rich lands as the state affords, adjoining the town; and every stick of wood, every fowl, pig, shoat, lamb, mutton, vegetable, pound of butter or pint of milk that the farmer can spare will find a certain and ready market from the steam boats.

The following trades would meet with most encouragement, viz. Brick-makers, Brick layers, Carpenters, Black-smiths, Wheelwrights, Coopers, Cabiner makers, Tanners & Curriers, Shoemakers, Hatters and Tailors. None however need apply except such as are masters of their trades and sober and industrious. Any letters directed to the subscriber at Frankfort, Ken. (post paid) will be duly attended to.
